

TMS and Biosound Therapy

PROVEN RESULTS

Biosound Therapy goes hand in hand with TMS. Providers report that the calming effects of the vibrations, music and meditations help their patients relax, de-stress and relieve pain before or after their TMS appointment. To the right are the results of a clinical study of Biosound Therapy sessions. Visit our website for more information on the results.
www.BiosoundHealing.com/research

Stress

Depression

Body Aches

Muscle Tension

Headaches

Anger

Zero Gravity Adjustable Frame – Designed to deliver sound frequencies and deep, resonant vibrations without downward pressure on the spine, relieving muscle tension and back pain.

"There's tremendous benefit in using TMS and Biosound therapy for patients with depression and anxiety. The most obvious benefit for our patients is helping them to learn how to cope with symptoms of depression and anxiety. We also help them incorporate meditation and deep breathing into their daily lives. Biosound is great to use before a session, especially if the patient is nervous."

Britani H., The Healing House

BIO SOUND OUTCOME DATA ANALYZER

The system includes Biosound's proprietary outcome data analyzer program. The program records and stores the client self-assessments, pre and post session. The program captures the client's intensity levels relative to the ten symptoms shown and stores them in their file, which may be accessed on the cloud based platform provided with the program. The program will correlate the percentage of improvement from pre to post session and collect age and gender data. The data may be exported to excel for documentation of the client's symptom improvement throughout treatment and to quantify outcomes for research, marketing or other purposes.

THERAPEUTIC MUSIC

The therapeutic music that is arranged for the Biosound® Healing Therapy System is composed with binaural beats and healing frequencies that help activate the parasympathetic nervous system (the body's relaxation center).

BIOFEEDBACK

The Biosound® Healing Therapy System integrates a user friendly HRV biofeedback program that teaches clients simple techniques to manage their emotions. The program has different challenge levels and games to help the patient achieve higher levels of coherence. Physiological coherence is a balance between the sympathetic (Fight or Flight) NS and the parasympathetic NS, many athletes call this "being in the zone".

GUIDED IMAGERY

The guided imagery selections are mindfulness meditations designed to take the patient deeper into a subconscious theta brainwave state where positive messages can be delivered successfully. The guided imagery sessions cover a variety of topics including Overcoming Past Trauma, Pain Control, Releasing Anxiety, Overcoming Guilt and Shame and many more.

VIBROACOUSTIC MASSAGE

The Biosound® Healing Therapy System has been uniquely crafted with 8 powerful transducers that transmit healing sound frequencies to the body. The vibrations are choreographed to the music, so the patient not only hears the music, but also feels it! This helps stimulate the body's natural relaxation response and relieves muscle tension, body aches and pain.

SPA PACKAGE

Includes a UV Pillow warmer and 6 therapeutic heated pillows for pain relief. An aromatherapy diffuser with a selection of fragrant essential oils is also included.